Look to the stars tonight to find all that I need
Still there's no sign of the answer that I seek Gaze through the window of all the faces unknown
Cold, dark, and empty eyes and so far to go

I found the world inside my head no longer turns
It's lonely emptiness within me that burns
But still I'm searching, searching madly
For the reason of the rhyme
If I could find the answer, I'd have it for all time

I can't wait for tomorrow
I can't wait for the stars or the sun or the sea to guide me
I can't wait for tomorrow
Yet I know that I'll find

CHORUS:

Winds of change
Blowing strongly
Winds of change
Whispering

Deep in my heart I'll find where to start
And follow the light to the end
And the truth will be told for the young and the old
As the winds of change will blow
Never, never, never lonely
Standing on your own
You'll face the fears of all of your years
And finally it's you that you know

You can't wait for tomorrow
You can't wait for the stars or the sea or the sun to shine on you
You can't wait for tomorrow
Listen for...

You better listen for

CHORUS (REPEAT)
